The Twisted Pair Solutions partner program consists of two important partner types:

WAVE Resellers/Integrators deliver end-to-end WAVE-powered communication solutions. All our reseller and integrator partners have specially trained, certified and experienced technical specialists.

WAVE OEM/Solutions Developers create customer-specific applications showcasing the WAVE Software Development Kit (SDK) to deploy the power of WAVE unified group communications in the enterprise and government sectors.

The WAVE Solution Developer Program meets specific needs of both Independent Software Vendors (ISVs) who specialize in software product development, and hardware vendors (OEMs) who embed technology and applications onto their equipment. Our partners value WAVE's unparalleled business benefit: the group communications technology that stands alone in its ability to offer extensive functionality, proven scalability and trusted reliability. Industry-leading technology companies as well as smaller, entrepreneurial firms are using our technology to expand their customer base and answer their customers' requirements.
